EXCELLENCE IN DESIGN: SEATTLE/TACOMA

Life Well Lived

With experience and empathy, John Buchan Homes creates modern luxury meccas for extraordinary living experiences

Luxury design-build firm John Buchan Homes' portfolio illustrates a diversity of creations, each tailored to the nuanced needs of singular clients. Yet a thread of timeless grandeur woven through each proves the firm is a cut above.

"We've been building homes since 1961 and are sought out by clients who want the best home for their family," says Heather Dosch, CEO. "We are known for building timeless homes that are a reflection of achievement, pride, and security."

With custom homes under construction throughout Clyde Hill, Medina, and Bellevue, John Buchan Homes has established a reputation for meticulous craftsmanship, inspired artistry, and unwavering integrity. Longstanding relationships with vetted tradespeople as well as a seasoned in-house team lead to high-quality, high-performance custom homes.

"Our clients receive an experience that is tailored to their needs while benefitting from working with a builder who has built thousands of homes and has the systems, expertise, and relationships in place to bring their dream home to life," Dosch says.

A recent contemporary build in Clyde Hill demonstrates the firm's adept design skills, as comfortable living meets aesthetic sensibility. Expansive windows capitalize on both mountain and city vistas while organic materials throughout connect the space with Washington's natural beauty. The finished home captures the elevated, warm air imbued into every John Buchan Homes project.

"We listen, understand, and care," Dosch says. "This is evident in everything we do. We offer a strategic approach plus a team of experts who take pride in their work so our clients can live their best lives."
